

Your research needs a reliable solution that helps you work more quickly and confidently.

Find relevant references faster

Access the world's published scientific journal and patent literature with a single search.

Search for substances and reactions

Identify chemical substances and reactions using the most authoritative source available.

Visualize search results

See important connections in a much clearer way with AI-powered visualizations.

Uncover full synthetic pathways

Determine the optimal route for both known and novel targets.

Plan experiments with certainty

Develop plans for your experiments more quickly and confidently.

Explore chemical and biological information

Expand your chemistry research to find biological sequences and bioactivity data.

How is CAS SciFinder® going to help you today?
Learn more at cas.org

